MODERNISING THE PLANNING SYSTEM

BE FIRST TO GET THE LOWDOWN ON THE GREEN PAPER

In November 2017 the Minister for Planning, the Hon Rita Saffioti MLA announced that an independent review of WA's Planning System was to be undertaken. Evan Jones was appointed as the Principal, WA Planning System Review to conduct the review and prepare a Green Paper, outlining how the system could be made more efficient, open and understandable.

The Green Paper has now been released for public consultation until 20 July 2018.

Join us for this free member briefing, to get the lowdown directly from Evan Jones, Principal of the WA Planning System Review about his findings, the improvements and changes he is recommending and importantly, the thinking behind them.

The Green Paper proposes five areas of reform to deliver a system that is strategically led, legible, transparent, efficient and can deliver smart growth.

Don't miss out on this unique opportunity to hear in depth from the author of the green paper about the exciting reforms that have been proposed to WA's Planning System.
