

UDIA WA

Member Briefing

Urbis/UDIA WA Home Purchaser Sentiment Survey & June Quarter Data Urban Development Index Analysis

The June quarter has been the strongest quarter on record for land sales, find out where the activity has been and what the purchaser sentiment is. Perth's leading property economists David Cresp and Tim Connoley of Urbis will provide an overview of their outlook for the residential market and what will be the key influences going forward. They will also present the results of the first Urbis/UDIA Home Purchaser Sentiment Survey as well as the June Urban Development Index results.

The Urban Development Index is a quarterly research publication released by the Urban Development Institute of Australia (UDIA WA), which covers Residential Land Activity. It provides a comprehensive analysis of land sales activity in the state, as well as current property and economic conditions. Data and analysis includes land sales, lots on the market, and developer lot construction intentions over the next 12 months.

Join UDIA WA development industry members for an interactive webinar presentation offering an overview of key findings & analysis of the June quarter data, as well as the results from the Home Purchaser Sentiment Survey from UDIA WA Research Partner Urbis.

Date: Friday 7th August 2020

Time: 10:30am-11:30am

Location: via GoToWebinar

The presentation will run for 1 hr (40 minute key note, 20 min Q&A.) This session is free of charge for UDIA WA members, registrations close Wednesday 5th August 2020.

Confirm your place by emailing events@udiawa.com.au

Proudly supported by Principal Research Partners-

