The 2023 UDIA WA Women in Leadership (WIL) Award is an integral aspect of UDIA WA's industry diversity agenda, particularly in relation to the critical role of women in the urban development industry and improving female representation in our sector.

The WIL Award is presented to a high calibre professional who demonstrates outstanding leadership and has made a significant personal and business contribution to the industry.

The award offers the winner unparalleled networking and professional development opportunities.

UDIA WA also works closely with the winner each year to understand their priorities and aspirations and tailor opportunities throughout the year to suit each individual.

Previous winners of this award have used the position to continue to mentor others within the industry and have also championed issues both relevant to and outside of the development sector, with UDIA's support.

We encourage all outstanding women working in the WA property development industry to nominate for the 2023 Women in Leadership Award. This is the perfect opportunity to build your profile in the industry and gain the recognition you deserve.
